Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year C

28 August 2022

REFLECTION

In many cultures, there's an order where one should sit at the dinner table or in any formal function. This practice tries to show to everyone who is more important in a particular group or in the family. One thing that you have to learn is that you should not presume a particular position. The head of the household has the complete liberty on who should sit where. This is where Jesus wants to make his point. To save us from embarrassment, we should occupy the lowliest position and if the host of the party wants to elevate us to a loftier position, then we'll be seen well by everyone. Rather than presume that we're important only to be asked to moved down the position because somebody more important than us has arrived. May this gospel for this week lead us to be humbler and not to think ourselves as somebody who is important because there will always be another person who is more important than us. In front of God, we are merely servants called to serve our needy brothers and sisters.

Social Justice Statement 2022-23

Respect: Confronting Violence and Abuse

The Church in Australia marks Social Justice Sunday on August 28. In their Social Justice Statement, Respect: Confronting Violence and Abuse, the Australian bishops speak out about the scourge of domestic and family violence. They call for relationships to be marked by equality and reciprocity rather than domination and violence, respect and freedom rather than coercion and control. Access the Statement and related resources at www.socialjustice.catholic.org.au
